To: All Domino Foods, Inc. Valued Customers:

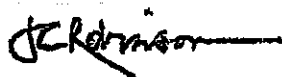

This is in response to recent requests from our customers regarding the use of genetically engineered additives or ingredients in the manufacture of our powdered and confectioner's refined sugar products.

Please be advised that we do not specify or purchase cornstarch or maltodextrin for regular grades of powdered sugar products which is genetically modified organism free (GMO free) or identity preserved (IP). As such we cannot make any claims regarding the GMO status of the family of confectioner's sugar products. We assume and therefore advise customers that all products which contain cornstarch and maltodextrin, with the exception of DiPac noted below, are not GMO free. These products, including Confectioner's 4X, 6X, 10X and 12X and Set & Match, should not be utilized in products where GMO free status is stipulated or required.

With respect to the DiPac[®] Direct Compacting & Tableting Sugar product, this product does not intentionally* contain any genetically engineered additives or ingredients (*adventitious commingling may occur at the supplier's facility).

I trust this information is sufficient. Should you require additional information, please contact our sales organization.
